

TESLAGME

June 17, 2025

```
[1]: # Import necessary libraries
import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Download Tesla stock data
tesla = yf.Ticker("TSLA")
tesla_data = tesla.history(period="max")

Reset the index of the dataframe
tesla_data = tesla_data.reset_index()

Save the dataframe to a CSV file (optional)
tesla_data.to_csv('tesla_stock_data.csv')

Display the first five rows
print(tesla_data.head())
```

	Date	Open	High	Low	Close \
0	2010-06-29 00:00:00-04:00	1.266667	1.666667	1.169333	1.592667
1	2010-06-30 00:00:00-04:00	1.719333	2.028000	1.553333	1.588667
2	2010-07-01 00:00:00-04:00	1.666667	1.728000	1.351333	1.464000
3	2010-07-02 00:00:00-04:00	1.533333	1.540000	1.247333	1.280000
4	2010-07-06 00:00:00-04:00	1.333333	1.333333	1.055333	1.074000

	Volume	Dividends	Stock Splits
0	281494500	0.0	0.0
1	257806500	0.0	0.0
2	123282000	0.0	0.0
3	77097000	0.0	0.0
4	103003500	0.0	0.0

```
[5]: import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Create a Ticker object for Tesla
tsla = yf.Ticker("TSLA")

Get quarterly income statement
```

```

revenue_df = tsla.quarterly_financials.loc["Total Revenue"]

Convert to DataFrame
tesla_revenue = pd.DataFrame({
    "Date": revenue_df.index,
    "Revenue": revenue_df.values
})

Reverse the order to make it chronological
tesla_revenue = tesla_revenue[::-1].reset_index(drop=True)

Display last 5 rows
print(tesla_revenue.tail())

```

	Date	Revenue
2	2024-03-31	21301000000.0
3	2024-06-30	25500000000.0
4	2024-09-30	25182000000.0
5	2024-12-31	25707000000.0
6	2025-03-31	19335000000.0

```

[6]: import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Step 1: Download GameStop (GME) historical data gme_data = yf.download("GME", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", interval="1d")

Step 2: Reset the index (so 'Date' becomes a column instead of the index)
gme_data = gme_data.reset_index()

Step 3: Save to CSV (optional)
gme_data.to_csv("gme_data.csv", index=False)

Step 4: Display the first five rows
print(gme_data.head())

```

/tmp/ipykernel_1519/703591977.py:5: FutureWarning: YF.download() has changed argument auto_adjust default to True gme_data = yf.download("GME", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", interval="1d")

```

```

[100%] 1 of 1 completed

Price	Date	Close	High	Low	Open	Volume
Ticker		GME	GME	GME	GME	GME
0	2020-01-02	1.5775	1.6175	1.5175	1.5350	17814400
1	2020-01-03	1.4700	1.5625	1.4600	1.5525	14175600
2	2020-01-06	1.4625	1.4775	1.4000	1.4500	13579200

3	2020-01-07	1.3800	1.4575	1.3600	1.4425	20912000
4	2020-01-08	1.4300	1.4625	1.3525	1.3725	22517600

```
[7]: import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Create GME ticker object
gme = yf.Ticker("GME")

Get quarterly revenue
revenue_series = gme.quarterly_financials.loc["Total Revenue"]

Convert to DataFrame and reverse for chronological order gme_revenue = pd.DataFrame({
    "Date": revenue_series.index,
    "Revenue": revenue_series.values
})[::-1].reset_index(drop=True)

Display last 5 rows
print(gme_revenue.tail())
```

	Date	Revenue
2	2024-04-30	881800000.0
3	2024-07-31	798300000.0
4	2024-10-31	860300000.0
5	2025-01-31	1282600000.0
6	2025-04-30	732400000.0

```
[11]: import matplotlib.pyplot as plt

def make_graph(data, title):
    plt.figure(figsize=(10,5))
    plt.plot(data['Date'], data['Close'], label='Close Price')
    plt.title(title)
    plt.xlabel('Date')
    plt.ylabel('Stock Price (USD)')
    plt.grid(True)
    plt.legend()
    plt.xticks(rotation=45)
    plt.tight_layout()
    plt.show()

import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Download Tesla stock data
```

```
tesla_data = yf.download("TSLA", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", ↪interval="1d")

Reset index to make 'Date' a column
tesla_data = tesla_data.reset_index()

make_graph(tesla_data, "Tesla Stock Price (2020-2024)")
```

/tmp/ipykernel_1519/3732742066.py:19: FutureWarning: YF.download() has changed argument auto_adjust default to True

```
tesla_data = yf.download("TSLA", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", interval="1d")
```

[100%] 1 of 1 completed

```
[10]: import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Download Tesla stock data
tesla_data = yf.download("TSLA", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", ↪interval="1d")

Reset index to make 'Date' a column
tesla_data = tesla_data.reset_index()
```

/tmp/ipykernel_1519/394139763.py:5: FutureWarning: YF.download() has changed argument auto_adjust default to True

```
tesla_data = yf.download("TSLA", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", interval="1d")
```

[100%] 1 of 1 completed

```
[12]: import matplotlib.pyplot as plt

def make_graph(data, title):
    plt.figure(figsize=(10,5))
    plt.plot(data['Date'], data['Close'], label='Close Price')
    plt.title(title)
    plt.xlabel('Date')
    plt.ylabel('Stock Price (USD)')
    plt.grid(True)
    plt.legend()
    plt.xticks(rotation=45)
    plt.tight_layout()
    plt.show()

import yfinance as yf
import pandas as pd

Download GME stock data gme_data = yf.download("GME", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", ↪interval="1d")

Reset index to move Date into a column
gme_data = gme_data.reset_index()

make_graph(gme_data, "GameStop Stock Price (2020-2024)")
```

/tmp/ipykernel_1519/3401482224.py:19: FutureWarning: YF.download() has changed argument auto_adjust default to True

```
gme_data = yf.download("GME", start="2020-01-01", end="2024-12-31", interval="1d")
```

[100%] 1 of 1 completed

[]: